RISK MANAGEMENT WORKSHOP

July 28, 2:15 - 3:15 pm
First Amendment Issues
Darcy Goddard
Deputy District Attorney
Stacia Sidlow
Civil Attorney
Salt Lake County

The First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution states: "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances." This presentation will cover assembly and protest issues counties may experience in the current climate.

Darcy Goddard is the Chief Policy Advisor for the Civil Division of the Salt Lake County District Attorney's Office.

Darcy has been with Salt Lake County for just shy of 10 years, after a long(-ish) career as a wandering minstrel-lawyer in private practice in Colorado and New York, then the New York Attorney General's Office and, finally, as the legal director at a local not-for-profit-but-for-press, the ACLU of Utah. She is originally from Boise, Idaho, but went east for college at Smith College (nope, not a "girl's school," a women's college—it was not The Facts of Life) and law school at the University of Virginia in Charlottesville. Then she sort of forgot to come back for 19 years.

Although her primary area of legal practice has always been litigation, she transitioned to her more policy-focused role in January 2016, when she began working with (sigh) the Utah State Legislature. It was not an improvement.

Darcy's favorite human is her 8-year-old Atticus. Yes, named after that Atticus. But that was before that Atticus was an unabashed racist in the Sequel That Shall Not be Named.

Described variously by colleagues as "a repentant ACLU lawyer," "the nice one," "the very mean one," "a First Amendment purist," "the one who rappelled down a building dressed as a dragon just because her son asked," and "wait, who's that again?," Darcy loves to learn as much as she loves to teach. She is a frequent presenter for UCIP, UPC, and the District Attorney's Office.

Stacia Sidlow is a deputy district attorney in the Civil Division of the Salt Lake County District Attorney's Office representing the Salt Lake County Health Department. She naively and unwittingly took this position a mere four months before the COVID-19 pandemic destroyed our lives, and she has been drinking from a firehose since.

Stacia was born and raised in Salt Lake City and never figured out a good reason to leave. She received her undergraduate degree in Philosophy from the University of Utah in 1998. After contemplating her bellybutton for two years, she decided to go to law school because, well, food just tastes so good.

After graduating from the S.J. Quinney School of Law at the University of Utah in 2003, she spent most of her career as a law clerk and staff attorney at the United States District Court for the District of Utah: two short stints with District Judge Dale A. Kimball and one incredibly long stint with Magistrate Judge Paul M. Warner. She has A LOT of funny (and not so funny) stories about judges and the innerworkings of the court. If she is ever diagnosed with a terminal disease, she'll write a tell-all book. For now, her lips are sealed.

Her two boys, Finn (17) and Beck (12), are the light of her life and the bane of her existence. She still contemplates her bellybutton through meditation and mindfulness. She is becoming a certified mindfulness meditation teacher in case this whole lawyer thing doesn't work out.

UAC/UCIP Training Opportunities

Bryan Rodgers

Human Resources Director

Utah Association of Counties

Alex Getts

Education and Training Specialist

Utah Counties Indemnity Pool

There are many training opportunities afforded to counties through membership in the Utah Association of Counties and the Utah Counties Indemnity Pool. This presentation will review what each organization can offer, and how they can be of benefit to your elected officials, appointed officials, and employees.

Bryan joined the Association in November of 2017. He was raised in South Jordan, UT and graduated from the University of Utah in 2009 with a B.S. Degree in Political Science. Bryan works with Corporate Partners of the Association. He recently received a master's degree in Public Administration from Southern Utah University.

Managing Volunteers and Volunteer Risk

Johnnie Miller

Chief Executive Officer

Utah Counties Indemnity Pool

Counties have always been dependent on having access to volunteers, and now more than ever it is critical to understand and consider the requirements of the Volunteer Government Workers Act when utilizing volunteers. We will review the requirements of the Act and discuss the issues to consider and decisions to be made when using volunteers.

Johnnie Miller has over 27 years experience working in the insurance industry with over 21 years service in Public Entity Pooling. He was hired in 2008 by UCIP, and is a Certified Risk Manager, Certified Insurance Counselor and an Associate in Risk Management for Public Entities. He is a Member of the County Reinsurance Limited (CRL) Investment and Underwriting Committee, has been appointed as the Chairman of the Utah Amusement Ride Safety Committee, and is a former Board Member of the Association of Governmental Risk Pools (AGRiP).

Solutions for the Targeted Violence Threat

Matt Beaudry

Protective Security Advisor

Cybersecurity and Infrastructure Security
Agency

What once was the unthinkable now occurs with alarming frequency. As the nation's critical infrastructure risk advisor, the DHS Cybersecurity and Infrastructure Security Agency (CISA) provides an ever-expanding catalog of free resources to support you in developing plans, training, exercises, and partnerships that can assist with managing an active shooter, bombing, and other acts of targeted violence. This presentation will inform you on how to protect your workforce, patrons, facilities, and critical operations and will link you to numerous resources to immediately begin taking action to prevent, protect, and mitigate these threats, and build the capabilities to respond and recover if necessary.

DEFEND TODAY, SECURE TOMORROW

PROTECTIVE SECURITY ADVISOR PROGRAM

BACKGROUND

The Department of Homeland Security (DHS), Cybersecurity and Infrastructure Security Agency (CISA) operates the Protective Security Advisor (PSA) Program. PSAs are resiliency subject matter experts who engage with Federal, State, local, tribal, and territorial (FSLTT) government mission partners and members of the private sector stakeholder community to protect the nation's critical infrastructure. The PSA Program maintains a robust operational field capability, with regional offices and PSAs serving in 73 districts in 50 states and United States territories. The regional offices and PSAs serve as the link to CISA's infrastructure protection resources; coordinate vulnerability assessments, training, and other CISA products and services; provide a vital link for information sharing in steady-state and incident response; and assist facility owners and operators with obtaining security clearances through the DHS Private Sector Clearance Program.

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

The PSA Program's primary mission is to proactively engage with FSLTT government mission partners and members of the private sector stakeholder community to enhance the security and resilience of critical infrastructure. Regional Directors oversee and manage the CISA PSA Program in their respective region, while PSAs facilitate local field activities in coordination with other DHS offices. The PSAs have five mission areas that directly support the security and resilience of critical infrastructure:

- Plan, coordinate, and conduct security surveys and assessments – PSAs conduct voluntary, non-regulatory security surveys and assessments on critical infrastructure assets and facilities within their respective regions.
- Plan and conduct outreach activities – PSAs conduct outreach activities with critical infrastructure owners and operators, community groups, and faith-based organizations in support of CISA priorities.
- Support National Special Security Events (NSSE) and Special Event Activity Rating (SEAR) events – PSAs support Federal, State, and local officials responsible for planning, leading, and coordinating NSSE and SEAR events.
- Respond to incidents – PSAs plan for and, when directed, deploy to Unified Area Command Groups, Joint Operations Centers, Federal Emergency Management Agency Regional Response Coordination Centers, and/or State and local Emergency Operations Centers in response to natural or man-made incidents.
- Coordinate and support improvised explosive device awareness and risk mitigation training – PSAs work in conjunction with CISA's Office for Bombing Prevention by coordinating training and materials to State, local, tribal, and territorial partners to assist them in deterring, detecting, preventing, protecting against, and responding to improvised explosive device threats.
